Dear [redacted]

STAT

Attached for your information are a number of items which we have sent to [redacted] in answer to their information request. We are trying to respond as completely and promptly as possible to their needs in connection with the system study and evaluation they are conducting. Since many of these requests, however, go directly from one guy to another, it is always possible that some of these things will fall into a crack.

STAT

[redacted] is such a swell guy, I do not believe he would bitch to me if this happened. I therefore would appreciate you checking with him occasionally to let me know directly or encourage him to needle me if there is anything more we can do.

STAT

Cordially yours,
